- Job specific products

Slave Pallets for Distribution Centers
As captive pallets, slave pallets typically remain in manufacturers’ and distributors’ production or distribution facilities for ongoing internal inventory transfers. Repetitive usage requires slave pallets to be designed for life and ease of use.

At Cornerstone Specialty Wood Products we engineer and manufacture slave pallets by reviewing your unique application demands. Cornerstone Specialty Wood Products’ expertise in structural properties of a wide variety of wood products qualifies us to integrate value driven solutions into your specific types of challenges.

Some of the designs we have incorporated with our customers into slave pallets include:

- Recessed barcode notches in the edges for easy identification of product
- Eased perimeters at top and bottom with 2” radius corners to increase life and minimize handling damages
- Economical, versatile timber risers that provide a station for slave pallets and products
- Assistance with forklift modifications for safe and efficient slave pallet handling
- Hand holes for easy manual relocation of slave pallets
